

AND YET AGAIN THE DURANTI COLUMN RETURNS AS IT WAS AG IN.

Someone, speaking recently about the arrests at Harmony Farm, said "5 out of 3,000 can't be bad." Isn't it? Well shit it sounds pretty bad to me. Why did the 3,000 let the arrests take place? They apparently chose the line of least resistance a policy of sticking their heads in the sand but unfortunately, as more and more people are realising, you cannot ignore the system that easily. O.K. so you just want to groove along and smoke yer dope and drop yer acid and dig the odd music festival will the police leave you alone ... will they fuck ... so what happens when any of the heavies around get heavy and stop any of us from doing it we let them carry on and we turn a blind eye with some excuse or other Only when the framework of authority and coercion has been dismantled will we be truly free we cannot ignore something thinking it will go away, which is throttling us all the time; we must fight back NOW.

The man is on your back.....you don't believe it....you refuse to see it.... the man is on your back and you don't fucking care, you don't give a shit until he knocks on your door well brother i've got some news for you all the man is out to get you ... every single one of you KILL THE MAN BEFORE HE KILLS YOU KILL THE PIG BEFORE HE GETS TO PR YOU KILL at first men devoured one another like wild beasts then the slave-rent and the strongest began to enslave the other people later the slaves became serfs ... and at a still later stage, the serfs became free wage slaves.

We all know that there is an acute shortage of accommodation in Brighton what the fuck are we going to do about it how about ...

a squat .. property is theft .. who doesn't have anywhere to live....

are the agents fucking you about a brick thru Bernard Thorpe's window would not come amiss don't get nicked

ATTILA NEWS....

" In the interests of justice " the olde bailey trial of Ian Purdie and Jake Prescott has been postponed again ---until October 4 this time.

Although it was scheduled to start last Tuesday the prosecution applied for more time cos they wanted to present " additional evidence ".

Jake was arrested on February 11, Ian on March 6. Since their arrests both men have been in custody on charges of trying to blow up Rbt. Carr's home, conspiring to blow it up, and blowing it up.

Since that time their accusers have been raiding house after house, organisation after organisation in an attempt to find evidence with which they can label the two men as members of a left-wing organisation known as the Angry Brigade!

Their success can be measured by the speed with which they have brought these men to trial.

VOTE WITH YOUR BOOTS.

The protest march in support of Jake and Ian and all prisoners took place as arranged, despite the curious absence of the Press.

Several hundred people marched, one got arrested, an effigy of "Law and Order" was burned and extinguished by a police inspector, and the massive police escort frequently found themselves going the wrong way because of the marchers's skill with an AtpZ map.

PUBLIC SEE SEX ON THE BEACH!

A man and a woman were each fined £20 at Brighton magistrates court on Tuesday for fucking on the beach. After receiving a complaint a horny P.C. ran breathlessly to the beach below Madeira Drive and saw them having fun under a ground sheet. The man told the magistrates it wouldn't happen again.

MUSIC WHILE YOU WED.

Brighton Council have actually been spending their time over the last few weeks fighting to get taped music played in the town's registry office so's young couples can have that magic moment enhanced with the strains of "Fight the Good Fight" and other such goodies played on the Dome organ. And they've won!

POEM:

In Dadsdays,
The good old bad yesteryear days,
When way covered earth,
And earth covered bodies,
And youth kicked,
At the pricks,
They picked,
They all fought,
For their own,
Piece of peace,
Like now, ~~~~~
Only younger, ~~~~~
People grow and change, ~~~~~
Situations remain the same.

VIOLENCE ( or the circle game )

A leopard and a tigress died recently in the US of Amerika. The tigress died of lung cancer ( though she had never been known to smoke ) and the leopard from lead poisoning. The leopard suffered from paralysis and stunted growth and eventually died of convulsions. Large deposits of lead were found in his brain, liver and kidneys and his esophagus was naturally ruptured. Three weeks after the leopard died another one was put into hospital with similar ailments. Investigations found dead rodents in the zoo. They died, it was decided, because, like the leopards and the tigress they licked their own fur. It had picked up the contents of the air.
